1430.0300 RESIDENCY (MFAM)

In order to receive Medicaid, all individuals must be eligible on the factor of residency. Homeless individuals and residents of public or private nonprofit shelters for the homeless are considered residents. An otherwise eligible individual must not be required to reside in a permanent dwelling or have a fixed mailing address.

Residency exists when the intent of the individual is to remain in the state. Residency is not dependent upon the duration of the stay. Residency does not exist when the stay is for a temporary purpose such as a vacation and there is intent to return to a residence in another state.

When a child is in the child's usual family setting, the residency of the child is considered in the context of the family situation. If the child leaves the family setting to reside elsewhere, residence is determined based on the extent and nature of the child's own stay.

A child is considered a resident when the parent or caretaker relative is a migrant agricultural worker who maintains Florida as a home for the children and intends to return to Florida.

Children born in the U.S. of undocumented or ineligible noncitizen parents residing in the state may meet the residency requirement if they intend to remain even if parents may not legally remain due to USCIS status.

An individual must satisfy one of the following residence requirements:

1. must reside in the State of Florida with the intent to remain, (individuals statement as to their intent to remain is acceptable) or

5. credible evidence of the abuse which includes but is not limited to, reports or affidavits from law enforcement, judges or other court officials, medical personnel, school officials, social workers, mental health providers, other social service agency personnel, legal documents, residence in a battered spouse shelter or similar refuge, photographs of the injuries, or sworn affidavits from friends, family members, or other third parties with personal knowledge of the battery or cruelty.

The eligibility specialist cannot delay authorization of an application or request for additional assistance while awaiting verification to establish battery or extreme cruelty. If it is later discovered that the noncitizen does not meet these criteria, a Benefit Recovery referral must be made.

Note: These individuals are subject to the five-year ban if entry is after 8/22/96 except lawfully residing children up to age 19.

Note: The eligibility specialist does not need to determine if the battered noncitizen meets the three criteria listed above for noncitizens who meet one of the other qualified noncitizen statuses unless it is to the noncitizen's advantage such as sponsored noncitizens.

Listing of Amended Passages

A child is considered a resident when the parent or caretaker relative is a migrant agricultural worker who maintains Florida as a home for the children and intends to return to Florida.

Note: Children born in the U.S. of undocumented or ineligible noncitizen parents residing in the state may meet the residency requirement if they intend to remain even if parents may not legally remain due to USCIS status. Lawfully residing children, up to age 19, are potentially eligible for Medicaid provided all other eligibility requirements, including residency, are met.

2210.0307 Foster Children (FS)

The needs, income and assets of a foster child may be excluded from the food stamp AG of the foster family if the foster family chooses to exclude the child. When the foster family excludes the needs of the child, the child is not included when determining the size of the food stamp AG, nor are the foster child's income and assets considered. The child's income is excluded even if it is paid to a member of the foster family. If the foster parent chooses to include the foster child in their food stamp AG, the child's income and assets, as well as his needs, are considered in the eligibility determination. The foster child, including a child or spouse of the foster child, may not apply for benefits separately from the foster family.

Exception: ~~If the foster child is living with their own child or spouse and meals are purchased and prepared separately from the foster parent, they may be a separate FS AG.~~
