

Action 4 Child Protection

Florida Department of Children and Families Case Review February 2016

Review Completed by Action for Child Protection

Central Region Overview

Date: 2/11/2016

Overview and Method

---

Action for Child Protection, Inc. completed a case record review requested by the Florida Department of Children and Families to assess the implementation of the Florida Safety Methodology. Cases were randomly selected from three regions in Florida and the sample was provided to Action for Child Protection. Cases were reviewed off-site by Action staff utilizing Qualtrics survey software and FSN access provided by the Department.

This report provides:

- Summary of key findings for the five main focus points of the review: Present Danger, Information Collection, Impending Danger, Safety Determination and Safety Planning.
- Data profile for cases reviewed within the Central Region for CPI.

Sample Size: 20 DCF CPI Assessments

Present Danger Assessment

Data Summary

- Total of 15 (50%) cases were identified by the review team case information indicated present danger.
- Total of 16 (53%) cases were identified by the worker indicated present danger.
- This resulted in a difference of 1 (3%) case between the review team identification of present danger and the worker identification of present danger. This is an increase in disparity of 2% since the July 2015 review.

Strengths

- High degree of consistency between review team and workers in identification of present danger threats.
- Present danger assessments provided detailed information to support the threats and subsequent actions.

Areas for Consideration

- For three cases, all DCF CPI present danger assessments, there was neither case information or information within the present danger assessment to conclude the assessment of present danger as being accurate.

Blue Represents Data from July 2015

Orange Represents Data from February 2016

Information Collection

Data Summary

- 46% of the total cases reviewed were found to have sufficient information collection in at least one or more domains.
- 30% of the total cases reviewed were found to have sufficient information collection in all six domains.

Strengths

- There was an increase in information collection for adult functioning, 60% of the cases contained sufficient information for this domain.
- The majority of the cases contained some information within the domains, with relatively low percent of cases where information was not present.

Areas for Consideration

- Information collection for and parenting general (30%) and parenting discipline (35%) were the lowest and was often found to be associated to lack of further engagement or contact with families after initial contact, regardless of if there was or was not present danger.
- There was a decrease in information collection associated to child functioning since the last review.
- 13% of the cases did not have information within the maltreatment domain

Orange Represents Data from February 2016

Impending Danger Assessment

Data Summary

- Total of 15 (75%) cases were identified by the review team as impending danger.
- Total of 16 (80%) cases were identified by the worker as impending danger.
- This resulted in a difference of 1 (5%) cases between what the review team identified as impending danger and the worker identified as impending danger. This is an increase of 5% since the July 2015 review.
- Total of 4 (20%) cases were identified by the review team as not having sufficient information to determine impending danger. This case number is the same as the last review, however percentage represents an 7% increase in disparity.

Strengths

- Cases where information was determined to be of good quality and sufficient supported the identification of caregiver protective capacities and the danger threats.

Areas for Consideration

- There was a high use of the danger threat of violent, impulsive, and acting dangerously when information did not support the threat but rather supported different danger threats. There were 5 cases identified by the CPI with this danger threat that were not agreed upon by the review team.

Blue Represents Data from July 2015

Orange Represents Data from February 2016

Safety Decision

Data Summary

- For all cases reviewed the reviewers found that 87% of the cases that were identified as safe by the worker were accurate. This is an increase in 4% since the July 2015 review.
- In 30% of the total cases reviewed, the review team was not able to identify if the safety decision (either safe or unsafe) was accurate based upon the information in the case record.
- The review team identified 13 cases where children were determined to be unsafe and 6 cases where the information was not able to determined based upon the review. The workers identified 15 cases where children were determined to be unsafe.

Strengths

- Several cases where information was sufficient, the safety decision was accurate.
- There continues to be a high degree of consistency regarding the safety determination between the CPI and reviewers.

Areas for Consideration

- Several cases lacked information to inform the safety decision for impending danger.

Safety Determination

Blue Represents Data from July 2015

Orange Represents Data from February 2016

Safety Planning

Data Summary

- A total of 15 cases were reviewed for safety plans. In those cases, 26% (6) were identified as having detail and sufficiency to control for danger threats. This represents no change since the July 2015 review.

Strengths

- For cases where information was available, the safety planning analysis and conditions for return were supported.

Areas for Consideration

- 40% of the safety plans reviewed did not have detail to identify that safety was being managed by the safety plan.
- Conditions for return were often treatment focused and not related to the safety planning analysis.

- Safety planning analysis, on several cases, was based upon the present danger assessment with no indication that further assessment of the home, the parents, or the ability for an in home safety plan was explored despite the information in the case indicating an in home plan may have been appropriate.
