3-11. Management Review Request. Management may request a special compliance review by contacting the Human Resources Director or the Human Resources Manager for Civil Rights at DCF Headquarters.

3-12. On-Site Monitoring.

a. Entrance Conference. The Compliance Officer will conduct an Entrance Conference with Management and/or other appropriate individuals at the start of the on-site monitoring. The Entrance Conference usually includes:

- (1) Introduction of participants;
- (2) Purpose, scope, and schedule of the on-site monitoring; and,

b. On-Site Process. Compliance Officers complete the approved monitoring tools through Document Review, Staff Interviews, and Observations and analyzes the results relative to compliance requirements. Each item is rated for compliance, non-compliance, or as non-applicable.

c. Adjustments to Scope During On-Site Monitoring. During the course of monitoring, the Compliance Officer may become aware of a compliance issue in an area that was not originally included in the scope. When this happens, the Compliance Officer will consult with the Human Resources Manager for Civil Rights to determine if additional activities will be conducted to monitor performance related to the new or additional issue or concern, and if so, the extent of activities. Information about the compliance concern will be discussed in the final report.
